DETAILED ACTION

This application has been filed with informal drawings which are acceptable for examination purposes only. Formal drawings will be required when the application is allowed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 to 4, 6, 8, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Landes (US 5,787,529). Landes shows a rescue sling 10 formed from a sheet of Kevlar or Nomex fabric that is formed in a pear shape, with a head area 32 attached to a lower section 34. Cross straps 82, 84 extend from the sides of the lower portion 34 and are used to fold the sheet into engagement around a patient. An upper body engaging strap 66 is also attached to the sheet and has ends that extend from the edges of the sheet. A handle 48 is formed by a u-shaped strap 46 extending from the sides of the head section and across the width of the sheet. The lower ends of the strap or harness 46 are crossed at a point 56 to form ends that can be folded back up towards the sheet in order to retain a patient, as shown in Figure 1. The harness 46 forms a handgrip along the edges of the sheet body which can be gripped from an outer face of the sheet.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5 and 7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 10 to 12 are allowed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Rosane, Butler et al, Wright, Chavez, and Jones show flexible stretchers that are of particular interest.
